DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction

1. Newly submitted claim 40 directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: claim 40 has newly added claimed features regarding sleep mode, such that claim 40 does not have the same scope as the original prosecuted claims.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claim 24 is withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MEP. § 821.03.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-14, 26-28, 30-35 and 39 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

Art Unit: 2731

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-3, 5-11, 13-17, 26-28, 30, 33, 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by LeBlanc et al. (US 5,960,341).

Regarding claim 1, LeBlanc et al. disclose a positioning system comprising: a plurality of wireless phones 16 in Fig. 2 for transmitting and receiving signals (a plurality of devices, each device coupled to a low power transceiver that transmits and receives information); a plurality of call routing and monitoring devices for receiving messages from wireless phones 16 and communicating each other (a plurality of router nodes, each router nodes having a transceiver capable of receiving device information from one or more proximate wireless devices and capable of wireless communication at a higher power level with other router nodes); central office switch for controlling the data transmission among the PRC (a controller coupled to at least one router node for receiving device information, wherein the router nodes transmit device information either to the controller or to another router for further transmission of the device information).

Regarding claim 2, the wireless phone 16 has a lower data bandwidth than the high power call routing and monitoring device.

Regarding claim 3, the wireless phone 16 has a battery.

Regarding claim 5, the call routing and monitoring is coupled to the central office switch that supplies high bandwidth information.

Regarding claims 6-9, the central switch is coupled to PSTN.

Art Unit: 2731

Claims 10, 11, 13-17, 26-28, 30, 33 and 39 disclose the similar limitation as those in claims 1-3 and 5-9. Therefore, claims 10, 11, 13-17, 26-28, 30, 33 and 39 are rejected by the same reasons set forth.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 4 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over LeBlanc et al. (US 5,960,341) in view of Loosmore et al. (US 5,682,142).

LeBlanc et al. disclose the claimed limitations discussed above. LeBlanc et al. do not disclose the claimed features of sensors and actuators. Loosmore et al. disclose an electronic control system comprising sensors and actuators, see column 4, lines 43-45. It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the system of LeBlanc et al. by using the features, as taught by Loosmore et al., in order to provide a faster input response in the communication system.

7. Claims 31 and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over LeBlanc et al. (US 5,960,341) in view of Graham et al. (US 5,351,270).

Art Unit: 2731

LeBlanc et al. disclose the claimed limitations discussed above. LeBlanc et al. do not disclose that the transceiver operates at an unlicensed spread spectrum frequency range. Graham et al. disclose a portable cellular telephone system comprising the following feature: transportable transceiver 12 in Fig. 2 operates at unlicensed frequencies. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the system of LeBlanc et al., by using the features, as taught by Graham et al., in order to fully utilized the frequencies spectrum.

8. Claims 34 and 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over LeBlanc et al. (US 5,960,341) in view of Hull et al. (US 5,806,005).

LeBlanc et al. disclose the claimed limitations discussed above. LeBlanc et al. do not disclose the claimed features of video camera. Hull et al. disclose a wireless image transfer system includes a video camera 20 in Fig. 1. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the system of LeBlanc et al., by using the features, as taught by Hull et al., in order to provide a user friendly system by having digital images.
